Here are odds showing the house advantage - as You see Blackjack has the lowest house advantage so it should be the most profitable.

Blackajck

- Single Deck 0.25%
- Double Deck 0.35%
- Four Decks 0.51%
- Six Decks 0.60%
- Eight Decks 0.63%

Baccarat

- Banker 1.17%
- Player 1.36%
- Tie 14.12%

Slot Machines

- from 15.20% to 3-4%

Keno

- from 25% to 29%

Let it Ride

- 3.51%

Pai-Gow Poker

- 2.50%

Red Dog

- 2.69%

Roulette Single Zero Table

- 2.70%

Roulette Double Zero Table

- 5.26%

You must know that in short period of time You can make 100 bets on blackjack for $1 and lose $50 or You can make 10 spins on slot machine for $1 and win $200.

Given above odds are true in long period of time (eg. 1,000,000 bets).

I quite agree that blackjack is one of the best. BEcause slot machines can be just configured to certain percents of winning.

Maybe Blackjack is good. But I like video poker too because I win frequently there.

The problem with any machine / video game is that the casino can set the odds which is why I don't like playing them. I did take some casino management classes at college and blackjack is indeed the game where the casino has the lowest advantage.

I agree with jamesb. And you never know if the player next to you is just a fake player to get your chips.

I think it's BlackJack.
It's quite simple game and if you play wisely you can win some money.

I think blackjack gives more possibilities to win.
But Poker should be even better.

Craps gives you better odds if you know how to play. The house edge for craps is lower than it is for blackjack (according to this site http://www.fastodds.com/game_odds/) craps is .6% while blackjack is .8%.
